Newsworthy Notes

“KAHOOT” Zoom Black History Trivia Program

Join the Sunday School on Zoom for “Kahoot” games! Test your Black History Trivia knowledge on (today) Sunday February 28, 2021, directly after Worship Services! Have fun with family and church friends as you join them on Zoom to play a game of “Kahoot” which gives you a chance to test your knowledge of Black History Trivia!

Men will have an opportunity to test their knowledge of famous Black Women of the past and present! Questions will include topics from general knowledge and responses are based on quick recall. Hope to see you there!

Black History Fact #2: Pearl Bailey

PEARL

Pearl Bailey was an American entertainer remembered for her sultry stage voice. Bailey started off signing in nightclubs, later taking secondary roles in many films.

She played the title role in the all-black Broadway production of Hello, Dolly! in 1968. She wrote several books, including Hurry Up America and Spit. She earned her bachelor's degree in theology from Georgetown University at age 67.

The Caring Creator

The very hairs of your head are all numbered.

Luke 12:7 (NIV1984)

The Lord of the universe molded clay into mountains and water droplets into raging seas. He breathed life into Rocky Mountain wildflowers and placed beauty in ornate ocean coral. He commanded the colors of the sunrise to burst into view and the song of the winds to sweep over the plains. The Creator gently formed grains of sand in the deserts, knowing the very number that drifted into rolling hills and deep valleys. He, who knows the details of the sand in every desert, knows the details of your days as well. The very hairs of your head are all numbered. —Laura R. Pittman Matthew 10:30 (NIV1984)
